

More Than Just A Beautiful Game

One Child at a Time

The Justice Cup

The Justice Cup is a 16-team, 6-aside co-ed amateur soccer tournament. Open to teams of all skill levels, the Justice Cup offers a guarantee of at least three games, and a chance to change the lives of children.

The tournament will take place May 22, 2010 on the beautiful fields of George Mason University, just outside of Washington, D.C. Players are asked to raise a minimum of $250 (or $1,500 per team). All players will receive cool shirts, a goodie bag and delicious food. In addition, prizes will be awarded for top-fundraisers.

Goal One

Goal One is a unique, interactive clinic for children that uses soccer to teach children about important life skills. Under the guide of volunteer coaches and players, children will hone their soccer skills while simultaneously learning how what they learn on the field can help them in every day situations. In so doing, they will also experience how they are helping make a difference in the lives of South Africa's poorest children.

Goal One will take place May 22, 2010 at George Mason University, alongside The Justice Cup.
